Progress report

ACCOUNTS COMMISSION

Key to progress:

Complete: This action has been completed.

Complete and continuing: While an action has been completed, it continues as part of further activity, usually as part of an ongoing cyclical process.

Continuing: The action has been started but will require further input from the Commission.

Action	Progress at end March 2016
Update the audit by:
In conjunction with the Auditor General, agreeing a new Code of Audit Practice reflecting our changing approach to audit (by September 2015).	Complete The Commission approved a draft new Code of Audit Practice in September 2015. The consultation went public on 22 October 2015 and closed on 3 December. The Commission approved the new Code on 10 March 2016.
Using this new Code as the basis for a new round of auditor appointments (by the end of 2015).	Complete The Commission approved a strategy for the new round of appointments in August 2015. The invitation to tender was issued on 6 November, with tenders to be submitted by 16 December. The Commission approved the provisional appointments of auditors on 10 March 2016, with final recommendations to be considered by the Commission on 12 May.
Ensuring that our annual overview report, to be published in early 2016, reflects our key themes.	Complete The Commission's overview report was published on 17 March. It received extensive press and broadcasting coverage, including The Herald , The Scotsman , Daily Mail , National , the BBC Scotland's Scotland 2016 television programme and responses from COSLA and Unison. The report has been downloaded 418 times and the podcast downloaded 253 times.
Putting in place a new approach to the audit of Best Value which is better integrated with other audit work and will provide more regular assurance about the performance of all councils (by April 2016).	Continuing At its meeting in December 2015, the Commission noted progress with developing the new approach. The Commission will be asked on 14 April 2016 to approve a new approach, with further engagement with stakeholders thereafter.

As part of this, working with other stakeholders to review and update the characteristics of Best Value, including ensuring that it reflects our key themes set out above (by April 2016).	Continuing The Commission wrote to the Cabinet Secretary in May 2015 proposing that statutory guidance be reviewed. This has been agreed by the Cabinet Secretary who has advised that this will be taken forward by the Scottish Government during 2016.
Reporting on how our new approach better reflects the experience of the citizen and service user (by April 2016).	Complete and continuing The Commission approved its work programme in December 2015. The programme contains a commitment that performance audits will give greater prominence to the experience of the citizen and service user. The programme also reflects the Commission’s commitment that every performance audit makes background data available for use by councils and citizens. The Commission will also be considering this as part of its development of a new approach to auditing Best Value. Specific examples include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Our Local Government Overview 2016 report highlighted how councils need to work closely with their service users to identify priorities and be aware of the obligations surrounding the Community Empowerment Act. • Our Major capital investment in councils audit published supplementary data in an interactive format on the Audit Scotland website. • Our report Health and social care integration recommends that integrated joint boards demonstrate that the changes are having a positive impact on service users and outcomes.
Follow public money by: Reviewing and updating our expectations of councils on following the public pound (FtPP) (by September 2015).	Complete In August 2015 the Commission considered the outcome of its review. It concluded that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the Following the Public Pound Code report remains valid and therefore there is no need to refresh its content • compliance with the Code should be embedded into the Commission’s performance expectations for councils under any revised Best Value (BV) guidance and therefore part of the new integrated BV audit approach.
Ensuring audit activity reflects and holds councils to account against such expectations (from April 2016).	As above.
