Introduction

1. This report is a summary of our findings arising from the 2019/20 audit of Glasgow City Integration Joint Board (the IJB).

2. The scope of our audit was set out in our Annual Audit Plan presented to the Finance, Audit and Scrutiny Committee meeting on 19 February 2020. This report comprises the findings from our main elements of work in 2019/20 including:

- an audit of the IJB's 2019/20 annual accounts including the issue of an independent auditor's report setting out my opinions
- consideration of the four audit dimensions that frame the wider scope of public audit set out in the Code of Audit Practice 2016 as illustrated in Exhibit 1.

Exhibit 1 Audit dimensions

3. Subsequent to the publication of the Annual Audit Plan, in common with all public bodies, the IJB and partner bodies have had to respond to the global coronavirus pandemic. This impacted on the final month of the year and will continue to have a significant impact into financial year 2020/21. This has had significant implications for the provision and costs of services and the suspension of planned projects and activities. Our planned audit work has had to adapt to new emerging risks as they relate to the audit of the financial statements and the wider dimensions of audit.

Adding value through the audit

4. We add value to the IJB, through audit, by:

- identifying and providing insight on significant risks, and making clear and relevant recommendations
- sharing intelligence and good practice through our national reports (Appendix 3) and good practice guides
- providing clear and focused conclusions on the appropriateness, effectiveness and impact of corporate governance, performance management arrangements and financial sustainability.

5. In so doing, we aim to help the IJB promote improved standards of governance, better management and decision making and more effective use of resources.

Responsibilities and reporting

6. The IJB has primary responsibility for ensuring the proper financial stewardship of public funds. This includes preparing annual accounts that are in accordance with proper accounting practices. The IJB is also responsible for compliance with legislation, and putting arrangements in place for governance, propriety and regularity that enable it to successfully deliver its objectives.

7. Our responsibilities, as independent auditor appointed by the Accounts Commission, are established by the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973, the Code of Audit Practice (2016), supplementary guidance, and International Standards on Auditing in the UK.

8. As public sector auditors we give independent opinions on the annual accounts. Additionally, we conclude on:

- the appropriateness and effectiveness of the performance management arrangements
- the suitability and effectiveness of corporate governance arrangements
- the financial position and arrangements for securing financial sustainability.

9. Further details of the respective responsibilities of management and the auditor can be found in the Code of Audit Practice 2016 and supplementary guidance.

10. This report raises matters from our audit. Weaknesses or risks identified are only those which have come to our attention during our normal audit work and may not be all that exist. Communicating these does not absolve management from its responsibility to address the issues we raise and to maintain adequate systems of control.

Auditor independence

11. Auditors appointed by the Accounts Commission or Auditor General must comply with the Code of Audit Practice and relevant supporting guidance. When auditing the financial statements, auditors must comply with professional standards issued by the Financial Reporting Council and those of the professional accountancy bodies.

12. We can confirm that we comply with the Financial Reporting Council's Ethical Standard. We can also confirm that we have not undertaken any non-audit related services and therefore the 2019/20 audit fee of £26,560, as set out in our Annual Audit Plan, remains unchanged. We are not aware of any relationships that could compromise our objectivity and independence.

13. This report is addressed to both the board and the Controller of Audit and will be published on Audit Scotland's website www.audit-scotland.gov.uk in due course.

14. We would like to thank all management and staff who have been involved in our work for their co-operation and assistance during the audit.

Part 1

Audit of 2019/20 annual accounts

Main judgements

Our audit opinions on the annual accounts of Glasgow City Integration Joint Board (the IJB) are unmodified.

The IJB's financial statements give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the IJB and its income and expenditure for the year, and were properly prepared in accordance with the financial reporting framework.

The management commentary, audited part of the remuneration report and annual governance statement were consistent with the financial statements and prepared in accordance with applicable guidance.

We received the unaudited annual accounts on 24 June 2020 in line with our agreed audit timetable. In light of the working restrictions arising from the current COVID-19 pandemic combined with the need to maintain the quality of our audit in a remote working environment, we agreed, with senior officers of the IJB, to take advantage of the flexibilities conferred under the Coronavirus (Scotland) Act 2020 and reprofile the timing and delivery of our audit to September 2020.

The annual report and accounts are the principal means of accounting for the stewardship of the resources and performance.

Our audit opinions on the annual accounts are unmodified

15. The annual accounts for the year ended 31 March 2020 were approved by the board on 25 November 2020. We reported within the independent auditor's report that:

- the financial statements give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the IJB and its income and expenditure for the year, and were properly prepared in accordance with the financial reporting framework
- the management commentary, audited part of the remuneration report and annual governance statement were all consistent with the financial statements and properly prepared in accordance with applicable accounting practices.

16. The working papers provided to support the accounts were of a good standard and the audit team received support from finance staff which helped ensure the final accounts audit process ran smoothly.

The annual accounts were signed off in line with the timescales permitted to reflect COVID-19

17. Schedule 6 of the Coronavirus (Scotland) Act 2020 extended the administrative deadlines for local government bodies to submit accounts for audit, and also the consideration and approval of audited accounts. The IJB was able to provide the unaudited annual accounts to the audit team on 24 June 2020, in line with our previously agreed audit timetable.

18. We received the unaudited annual accounts on 24 June 2020 in line with our agreed audit timetable. In light of the working restrictions arising from the current COVID-19 pandemic combined with the need to maintain the quality of our audit in a remote working environment, we agreed, with senior officers of the IJB, to take advantage of the flexibilities conferred under the Coronavirus (Scotland) Act 2020 and reprofile the timing and delivery of our audit to September 2020.

Overall materiality is £22.5 million

19. The assessment of what is material is a matter of professional judgement. It involves considering both the amount and nature of the misstatement in the annual report and accounts. Specifically, regarding the annual accounts we assess the materiality of uncorrected misstatements, both individually and collectively.

20. Our initial assessment of materiality for the annual accounts was carried out during the planning stage of the audit based on figures from the 2018/19 audited accounts. On receipt of the unaudited annual accounts, we reviewed and updated our initial assessment of materiality to reflect the more up-to-date information in the unaudited accounts. This did not impact our planned audit approach. Our amended materiality levels are summarised in Exhibit 2.

Exhibit 2

Revised materiality values

Materiality level	Amount
Overall materiality	£22.5 million
Performance materiality	£14.75 million
Reporting threshold	£225 thousand

Appendix 2 identifies the main risks of material misstatement and our audit work to address these

21. Appendix 2 provides our assessment of risks of material misstatement in the annual accounts and any wider audit dimension risks. These risks influence our overall audit strategy, the allocation of staff resources to the audit and indicate how the efforts of the audit team are directed. Appendix 2 also identifies the work we undertook to address these risks and our conclusions from this work.

22. We have no issues to report from our work on the risks of material misstatement.

We have no significant findings to report on the annual accounts

23. International Standard on Auditing (UK) 260 requires us to communicate significant findings from the audit to those charged with governance, including our view about the qualitative aspects of the body's accounting practices covering accounting policies, accounting estimates and financial statements disclosures.

24. We have no significant findings to report from our financial statements audit.

Other findings

25. In 2019/20, the IJB changed its segmental reporting within the financial statements to reflect the way financial performance was reported to the board and committee during the financial year. In addition, the health board was able to provide actual set aside expenditure figures rather than notional figures. In accordance with accounting standards, the 2018/19 prior year information disclosed in the annual accounts was restated to provide meaningful comparatives for both these issues.

26. During our review of the accounts presented for audit, we noted some differences in the expected restatement of these prior year values. Although reconciliations had been prepared to demonstrate the correct change in prior year figures, these were not fully reflected in the unaudited accounts presented for audit. The errors were corrected for the audited accounts, and officers have reviewed and updated the accounts closure and quality assurance checklist to address this matter going forward.

Identified misstatements of £0.448 million were adjusted in the accounts, these were less than our performance materiality and we did not need to further revise our audit approach

27. One misstatement for £0.448 million was identified during the audit. This related to an error in a stock certificate that was identified as part of Glasgow City Council's accounts closedown process, which took place after the IJB had prepared its accounts. The net impact of correcting this error was to decrease expenditure by £0.448 million, resulting in a revised deficit of £1.529 million. This also resulted in a corresponding increase in general reserves to £45.349 million.

Good progress was made on prior year recommendations

28. One recommendation was made in the prior year report, relating to the opportunity to review the management commentary to ensure it remains focused and takes account of good practice. As noted in Appendix 1, management engaged with Audit Scotland on this prior to preparing the 2019/20 Annual Accounts.

Part 2

Financial management and sustainability

Main judgements

The IJB has appropriate and effective financial management arrangements in place.

Budgetary processes provide timely and reliable information for monitoring financial performance. The level of uncommitted reserves dropped slightly at 31 March 2020 although the IJB has plans in place to increase this in the medium term.

The IJB has a medium-term financial plan covering the period 2020 to 2023, however this will need to be updated to reflect the future impact of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Financial management is about financial capacity, sound budgetary processes and whether the control environment and internal controls are operating effectively.

The 2019/20 budget included planned savings and contributions from reserves to address the funding gap

Budget setting

29. The IJB conditionally approved its 2019/20 budget of £1.2 billion in March 2019. The budget identified a funding gap of £23 million and plans to address this included savings of £19 million and a transfer of £4 million from reserves. The conditional approval of the budget was subject to:

- approval of health board funding by NHS Greater Glasgow & Clyde; and
- discussion with Glasgow City Council in relation to the joint development of a financially sustainable solution for the costs associated with both homecare and Housing First.

30. The funding offer from NHS Greater Glasgow & Clyde was formally approved by the IJB at its meeting in June 2019, following the health board's approval of its own budget in April 2019.

31. In its funding offer, Glasgow City Council confirmed it would continue to engage with the IJB to identify a financially sustainable solution to address cost pressures within homecare services going forward. In September 2019, it was agreed that the IJB would fund 50% of the 2019/20 overspend associated with homecare services with Glasgow City Council funding the remaining 50%. It was agreed that this would be baselined into budgets for 2020/21 onwards.

32. During the year, a number of adjustments were made to the budget to reflect additional funding streams and commitments. Senior management and members were kept updated on these amendments through regular monitoring and reporting of the IJB's financial position. The IJB has appropriate budget monitoring arrangements in place.

Efficiency savings

33. The IJB is required to make efficiency savings to maintain financial balance. Planned savings for 2019/20 were set at £19.555 million during the 2019/20 budget-setting process and savings plans included service reviews and efficiencies within homelessness services and prescribing, the Children and Families Transformation Programme, and through the Maximising Independence Programme. The savings target was revised to £18.255 million as a result of an agreed phased approach to savings within homelessness services. The actual outturn position was £17.062 million, 93% of target. The unachieved savings are in relation to the first year of the Maximising Independence Programme.

34. The IJB has demonstrated a reasonable track record in the delivery of its agreed savings targets, although unanticipated levels of demand in 2019/20 have made this difficult. Ageing populations and increasing numbers of people with long-term conditions and complex needs will continue to place significant pressure on health and social care budgets. Going forward, these pressures, along with the need to redirect resources to address challenges arising from the COVID-19 pandemic, will make it increasingly challenging for the IJB to deliver its savings targets whilst meeting its strategic priorities and statutory obligations.

The IJB operated within budget in 2019/20

35. The IJB does not have any assets, nor does it directly incur expenditure or employ staff, other than the Chief Officer and the Chief Officer (Finance and Resources). All funding and expenditure for the IJB is incurred by partner bodies and processed in their accounting records.

36. The IJB recognised an underspend of £14.727 million against its funding allocation in-year. This has been transferred into earmarked reserves for use in funding projects in 2020/21 and future years. The IJB also utilised £16.256 million of reserves to match the commitments for which they were earmarked. When taking into account the drawdown of these reserves, a year-end deficit of £1.529 million was recognised, as detailed in Exhibit 3.

Financial systems of internal control operated effectively

37. The IJB is reliant on the systems of its partner bodies, NHS Greater Glasgow & Clyde and Glasgow City Council, for its key financial systems, including ledger and payroll. All IJB transactions are processed through the respective partners' systems and all controls over these systems are within the partner bodies, rather than the IJB.

38. As part of our audit approach we sought assurances from the external auditor of NHS Greater Glasgow & Clyde and Glasgow City Council (in accordance with ISA 402) and confirmed there were no weaknesses in the systems of internal controls for the health board and no weaknesses in the systems of internal controls for the council.

Standards of conduct and arrangements for the prevention and detection of fraud and error are appropriate

39. The IJB does not maintain its own policies relating to the prevention and detection of fraud and error but instead depends on those in place at its partnership bodies. It is updated with relevant matters through a range of reporting methods, including six-monthly reporting by internal audit on audit activity at partner bodies that is of relevance to the IJB. The IJB also has a Code of Conduct in place to which members subscribe and the Members' Registers of Interest is publicly available on the Board's website.

40. We reviewed the arrangements in place at Glasgow City Council and NHS Greater Glasgow & Clyde through consideration of the work by partner body auditors. We concluded that appropriate arrangements are in place for the prevention and detection of fraud and error. We are not aware of any specific issues we require to bring to your attention.

Financial sustainability looks forward to the medium and longer term to consider whether the body is planning effectively to continue to deliver its services or the way in which they should be delivered.

Financial planning and sustainability

41. The IJB allocates the resources it receives from the health board and the council in line with its strategic plan. The current strategic plan was approved by the board in March 2019 and covers the period 2019 to 2022.

42. The board considered partner body financial allocations and budgets for 2020/21 at its meeting of 25 March 2020. The indicative funding offer of £937 million (including set aside) made by the health board was conditionally accepted at this meeting. The funding offer would usually be confirmed by the health board following approval of its own budget in April. However, the IJB has still to receive formal confirmation of the allocated budget from the health board. The IJB has continued to operate through 2020/21 on the basis that the indicative offer will form the baseline of the health board's allocation.

43. The council's funding offer of £441 million for 2020/21 did not include additional funding of £2.3 million to cover its share of the anticipated deficit within homecare services. As noted at paragraph 31, the council previously advised the IJB in September 2019 that this would be included within budgets for 2020/21 onwards. The offer of £441 million was conditionally accepted by the IJB in March 2020, on the basis that the additional funding for homecare services was discussed further with the council.

44. The impact of COVID-19 has delayed the IJB's progress in resolving these with the respective partners. We will continue to monitor the IJB's progress in agreeing its final budget for 2020/21 and report our updated assessment of this process as part of our audit of the 2020/21 financial statements.

Reserves strategy

45. Reserves are an integral part of the medium and longer-term financial planning of the IJB and its financial sustainability. The IJB holds reserves as a contingency to mitigate the impact of unanticipated pressures and also to meet specific future commitments. The board aims to hold uncommitted reserves equating to 2% of net expenditure, however it recognises this will take time to establish. As part of the Medium-Term Financial Outlook it has set a target of 1.5% uncommitted reserves by March 2023.

46. The balance of the IJB's uncommitted reserves was reduced to £13.998 million in 2019/20 (2018/19: £14.251 million), with £0.253 million redistributed to earmarked reserves to support the approved investment in the Maximising Independence Programme. This equates to approximately 1% of IJB net expenditure compared to 1.2% in the prior year, demonstrating a slight decline in progress towards the IJB's medium and longer-term targets of 1.5% and 2% respectively.

The IJB has a medium-term financial plan but has not developed a longer-term plan

47. The IJB approved a three-year Medium-Term Financial Outlook in March 2020. This covers the period 2020 to 2023 and supports the development of the current strategic plan. The report details a range of scenarios and factors that impact on the IJB's ability to deliver the strategic plan, including anticipated funding levels, cost pressures arising from inflation, service demand and change in demographics, along with anticipated legislative changes and policy commitments. The Outlook is updated annually to recognise changes in these scenarios and factors. The report identifies a potential funding gap of £14 million in 2020/21, rising to over £83 million by 2022/23.

48. The IJB plans to address the 2020/21 funding gap through efficiency savings alongside service reform and prioritisation. The IJB recognises that the challenges associated with the COVID-19 pandemic may impact the IJB's ability to deliver these planned savings in 2020/21 and potentially require the organisation to further use uncommitted reserves to manage the financial risk. This risk will be monitored throughout 2020/21 by the IJB and reported to the board, and delivery of planned savings will be monitored through the transformation board.

The financial impact of the COVID-19 pandemic is likely to be significant on future financial plans

49. The 2019/20 annual accounts included £0.796 million of additional costs associated with the COVID-19 pandemic. The accounts were prepared on the assumption that the Scottish Government will meet these additional costs, and this is the assumption which has been made by the IJB for future years. At the end of September 2020, the Scottish Government announced an overall funding package to support health boards and IJBs in addressing the financial challenges arising from COVID-19 in 2020/21. The IJB is currently engaging with health and other IJB partners to review the details of the package and identify the funding streams at individual IJB level.

50. The IJB has demonstrated awareness of the challenges ahead and has put in place effective arrangements to ensure the financial sustainability of the organisation over the medium term. However, the IJB will need to factor the additional financial challenge along with an estimate of future burdens associated with the COVID-19 pandemic into its current medium-term financial plans.

Part 3

Governance, transparency and best value

Main judgements

The IJB has appropriate governance arrangements in place that support the scrutiny of decisions by the board. It conducts business in an open and transparent manner.

Governance arrangements within the IJB were significantly impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. The revised arrangements were appropriate and adequate under the current circumstances.

The IJB has put in place arrangements to demonstrate the achievement of Best Value.

The IJB has effective performance management arrangements in place. Going forward, the IJB will need keep key performance indicators under review and re-assess targets to reflect the impact of COVID-19 on methods of service delivery and associated outcomes.

Governance and transparency is concerned with the effectiveness of scrutiny and governance arrangements, leadership and decision-making and transparent reporting of financial and performance information.

Governance arrangements are appropriate

51. The governance and transparency arrangements we consider include:

- board and committee structure and conduct;
- overall arrangements and standards of conduct including those for the prevention and detection of fraud, error, bribery and corruption;
- openness of board and committees; and
- reporting of performance and whether this is fair, balanced and understandable.

52. Overall, we concluded that the arrangements in place support good standards of governance and accountability.

The COVID-19 pandemic had a significant impact on governance arrangements from March 2020

53. The impact of COVID-19 from March 2020 has been set out in the Annual Governance Statement in the IJB's annual accounts. We noted that the following steps were taken to amend governance arrangements:

- Initiation of temporary decision-making arrangements, with the board delegating authority to the Interim Chief Officer and the Chief Officer (Finance and Resources) in consultation with the Chairs and Vice Chairs of the IJB and the Finance, Audit and Scrutiny Committee to meet immediate operational demand;

- Decisions made under temporary arrangements logged to capture the approval timeline;
- Temporary suspension of the Finance, Audit and Scrutiny Committee, and Public Engagement Committee; and
- Virtual board and committee meetings with members either joining online or dialling in.

54. The IJB kept these arrangements under review through the summer, and in September 2020, the temporary decision-making arrangements were discontinued. The Finance, Audit and Scrutiny Committee also reconvened in September, and the Public Engagement Committee is due to recommence in December 2020. Meetings continue to be held in a virtual environment, in line with Scottish Government guidance for safer workplaces during the pandemic.

55. We concluded that the revised arrangements are appropriate and adequate under the current circumstances, and they support good standards of governance and accountability.

Best Value is concerned with using resources effectively and continually improving services.

Arrangements are in place to secure best value

56. Integration Joint Boards have a statutory duty to make arrangements to secure best value. To achieve this, IJBs should have effective arrangements for scrutinising performance, monitoring progress towards their strategic objectives and holding partners to account. Our audit covers the four audit dimensions, as set out in Exhibit 1, which are key components of securing best value in the provision of services and the use of resources.

57. To allow the IJB to demonstrate best value in decision-making arrangements and to ensure that consequences of decisions are clear, including the delivery of best value, reports requiring decisions include detailed information on the following:

- the options available;
- the implications for service users and providers;
- the results of any consultation which has taken place;
- the financial consequences and how these will be funded; and
- the contribution to saving plans from proposals.

58. To ensure that savings plans have minimal effect on the quality of care or service provided, savings proposals are subject to an equality impact assessment. The results of these assessments are available to members.

Performance management

59. The Public Bodies (Joint Working) (Scotland) Act 2014 requires the IJB to produce an annual performance report covering areas such as: assessing performance in relation to national health and wellbeing outcomes, financial performance and best value, reporting on localities and the inspection of services.

60. The IJB receives a strategic overview of performance on a quarterly basis. More detailed performance reports are scrutinised at the Finance, Audit and Scrutiny Committee. These reports detail a range of performance information for each service area and use a traffic light system to highlight achievement targets.

61. This detailed performance information is used to inform the annual performance report. The 2019/20 annual performance report was presented to the board at its meeting on 23 September 2020. This was in line with the revised target date of 30 September 2020 under the powers granted by the Coronavirus (Scotland) Act 2020. The content of the 2019/20 annual performance report was in line with applicable requirements and supporting guidance.

62. Performance levels are measured against a suite of key performance indicators, comparing current, prior year (2018/19) and baseline (2015/16) performance. The 2019/20 annual performance report highlights a number of areas where the IJB's performance has shown the greatest improvement in 2019/20, including the number of children in out-of-authority placements; the percentage of Community Payback Order unpaid work placements commenced within seven days of sentence; and the percentage of women smoking in pregnancy.

63. The 2019/20 annual performance report also acknowledges a number of areas where improvement is required and sets out key actions the IJB will progress to achieve these improvements. Examples of the areas for improvement include:

- children's services – increasing the percentage of children with access to Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services;
- adult mental health – reducing the number of adult mental health service delays; and
- HR – reducing sickness absence rates.

64. The IJB has effective performance management arrangements in place, which are used to target effective service delivery and support improvement activity. Going forward, COVID-19 is likely to impact on service performance and achievement of individual targets to differing degrees. The IJB will need to keep indicators under review and re-assess targets to take account of the COVID-19 impact on service delivery.

National performance audit reports

65. Audit Scotland carries out a national performance audit programme on behalf of the Accounts Commission and the Auditor General for Scotland. During 2019/20 we published some reports which may be of direct interest to the board as outlined in Appendix 3.

66. The IJB has appropriate arrangements in place for considering and reviewing national reports including any locally agreed actions.

Significant audit risks identified during planning

The table below sets out the audit risks we identified during our planning of the audit and how we addressed each risk in arriving at our conclusion. The risks are categorised between those where there is a risk of material misstatement in the annual report and accounts and those relating our wider responsibility under the Code of Audit Practice 2016.

Audit risk	Assurance procedure	Results and conclusions
Risks of material misstatement in the financial statements
1 Risk of material misstatement caused by management override of controls Auditing Standards require that audits are planned to consider the risk of material misstatement caused by fraud, which is presumed to be a significant risk in any audit. This includes the risk of management override of controls that results in fraudulent financial statements.	Detailed testing of journal entries. Assessment of the estimation methodology applied by the IJB and the reasonableness of the estimates contained in the financial statements. Evaluation of the assurances from the IJB's partner bodies' external auditors, who carry out testing of accruals and prepayments.	Significant journals processed by the IJB were reviewed, with no issues identified. No significant accounting estimates were made by the IJB in the preparation of the annual accounts. Who we are

The Auditor General, the Accounts Commission and Audit Scotland work together to deliver public audit in Scotland:

- The Auditor General is an independent crown appointment, made on the recommendation of the Scottish Parliament, to audit the Scottish Government, NHS and other bodies and report to Parliament on their financial health and performance.
- The Accounts Commission is an independent public body appointed by Scottish ministers to hold local government to account. The Controller of Audit is an independent post established by statute, with powers to report directly to the Commission on the audit of local government.
- Audit Scotland is governed by a board, consisting of the Auditor General, the chair of the Accounts Commission, a non-executive board chair, and two non-executive members appointed by the Scottish Commission for Public Audit, a commission of the Scottish Parliament.

About us

Our vision is to be a world-class audit organisation that improves the use of public money.

Through our work for the Auditor General and the Accounts Commission, we provide independent assurance to the people of Scotland that public money is spent properly and provides value. We aim to achieve this by:

- carrying out relevant and timely audits of the way the public sector manages and spends money
- reporting our findings and conclusions in public
- identifying risks, making clear and relevant recommendations.
